Enterprise Risk Management

Creating Opportunities

Everything we do in life has an element of risk associated with it. That is a key reason why life is so great; we don't know what's coming next. Organizations are changing, and change can be uncomfortable. For these reasons, we need concepts and tools to take any risk and manage it.

Our ability to deal with this unknown and have confidence in a dynamic time and ever-changing environment is key to maintaining our stress levels and sanity at work and at play.

How You Benefit

A lot of work and many decisions, are made well before we are assigned tasks. Our job is not just to complete these tasks, but also to understand why we are doing them.

After taking this course, you will know how to manage risk, to the benefit of yourself and your organization. Your planning will be more proactive. Also, because you will know how to measure your success, that success can be better controlled.

Who Should Attend

This five-day workshop benefits anybody who understands basic risk management and wants to take it to the next level to expand their circle of knowledge.

This course emphasizes the latest in best practices and provides Risk Management tools, templates, and processes for immediate use.
